

The Shirley Guarantee is the broadest kind of a Money Back agreement. This Guarantee goes on every pair of suspenders we make, and should be insisted upon whenever you buy suspenders.

THE ORIGINAL

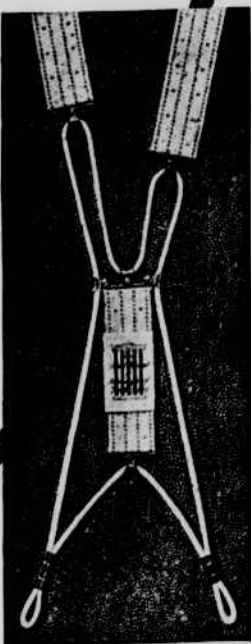

SHIRLEY PRESIDENT SUSPENDER

The best suspender a man can wear is the one that will cause his trousers to hang as his tailor intended, and at the same time relieves the strain on the shoulders. The only suspender that will do this is the "Shirley President."

Price 50c from all dealers or from factory. Light, medium or extra heavy. Extralengths for tall men.

If there's a mistaken idea about Holeproof Hose, please let us correct it. "Holeproof" are soft, light-weight and cool—not bulky or coarse in the least. No better hose than "Holeproof" can be made. They are the long-sought result after 38 years of hose-making experience—the original guaranteed hose perfected. Don't judge "Holeproof" by vastly inferior makes—hose created and made just to compete in stores with "Holeproof." No other hosiery ever attempted to compete with "Holeproof" on the foot, for that's where the difference appears. You must wear "Holeproof" to know this—so don't accept imitation makes with a name like "Holeproof" and the same guarantee.

FOR MEN WOMEN AND CHILDREN

All the Newest Summer Colors Now on Show

Our yarn costs an average of 70c per pound. We could use 30c yarn, but the hose wouldn't be soft and attractive like "Holeproof."

We spend $55,000 a year merely for inspection. So every pair is right.

Six pairs of plain and mercerized cotton "Holeproof," guaranteed for six months, cost $1.50 up to $3.00, according to finish and weight. The weights are the very lightest—made for the warmest summer's wear.

They are made for men, women and children. We make them in silk for men and women—three pairs guaranteed three months—for men $2.00, for women $3.00.

There are twelve colors, ten weights and five grades for men; seven colors, three weights and three grades for women; and two colors, two weights and three grades for children.

A LOVE STORY AND OTHER THINGS

ANYBODY would know from the title that MOLLY DARLING is a love story. It makes one think of youth with its romance and glamour. This prize entry by Florida P. Sumerwell has that and much more besides,—wise and gentle humor, with just a touch of satire, for one thing, and, which is far more important, a fine idea. Honestly, there is so much in the story that one wants to tell all about it in advance just to emphasize that idea. It lingers like a perfume in one's memory.

If you are very young you will have a certain admiration for the Other Man, coupled with a realization of the utter absurdity of his even dreaming that he might really win Molly Darling; but if you are only a little old you will sympathize with him deeply and respect him highly, and wonder why things should always come about that way. The great compensation of getting a little old—no right thinking person ever becomes very old—is the wisdom the years bring,—not very much, perhaps, but one cannot live without accumulating a little. And the great trial of getting a little old is the fact that youth can't grasp this wisdom.

Maybe you will think of these things when you read MOLLY DARLING in our next SUNDAY MAGAZINE; but, whether you do or not, you will thoroughly enjoy a charming story.

DON JOHN QUIXOTE, PUMPMAN, by James B. Connolly, begins in this number, and if you read the first instalment of this tale of the sea and a very remarkable and very human man, you will be sure to finish it; for at the very start is a promise of a gorgeous fight. One can feel it in every line, and, no matter how high your expectations may be, you will not be disappointed. There is action enough for several stories; but perhaps the finest touch of all in the tale is at the end when the real picturesqueness of Kiernan's character is revealed. He seems to be a great man until he reveals his own limitations. It is unusual for any man to have an accurate estimate of his own capacity, especially those things within him which keep him from going ahead.

LINING UP WITH LADY ANN is a Shorty McCabe story—you know it must be either that or a Torchy tale, and that you will be perfectly satisfied with either. In this experience the Master of Helpfulness rubs elbows with a conventional young High Churchman and his unconventional sister. It is difficult to determine whether Shorty or Cuthbert is the more uncomfortable. However, the breezy Lady Ann saves the day, and, strange to relate, Shorty plays little real part. He is simply the chorus; but, if anyone tells him that, he is likely to have Shorty revert to his original profession for a few minutes.

THE SECRETARY OF PRIVOLOUS AFFAIRS isn't to be forgotten. The lively story by Mrs. Jacques Futrelle marches along so cheerfully, so humanly, with such keen, cumulative interest and real humor, that it makes ideal summer reading.

WHEN THE ELECTRIC AGE ARRIVES is one of those fascinating scientific articles that read like romance. If an ordinary person should say the time is coming when an alcohol lamp burning under a bowl will give a household all the electric light, heat, and power it can use, it would seem like a fairy tale. Dr. Emile Berliner, who writes the article in simple, colloquial fashion, says that is bound to come about, and he speaks with authority. He is the man who invented the disk talking machine and perfected the telephone, making that instrument a practical success.

THE DESERT MINER, by David G. Baillie, is a florid narrative of the hardships and romantic experiences of those who seek gold where there is nothing to support life save the hope of finding riches.

ILLUSTRATED Song No. 14 is THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER, and the picture for it was painted by George Gibbs. Anybody can have three guesses as to why it is printed at this time.

"North Star" Refrigerator Protects Your Health

A sanitary refrigerator. Think of it. We have perfected it after 22 years inventing and striving.

This new, modern North Star refrigerator has a sanitary base—why its the only refrigerator that is completely, wholly sanitary in every detail. No dirt can lodge underneath. You can mop up underneath as easily as you can mop up inside. The ordinary refrigerator has a low base, a rising ground for disease germs, and it is sanitary underneath, even when you get down on your knees to clean up. Besides, the North Star refrigerator actually cuts down the heat, as proven by tests at the Engineering Laboratory of Illinois University, which show positive that it is cooler than any other refrigerator.

Send your address today and we will mail a FREE booklet.

It fairly bristles with startling facts regarding refrigerators and sanitation—gives 17 big reasons why the North Star is the only refrigerator you want.
